This reading list is a simple tool meant to help you inspire your children in the joyful habit of having their own special time with God. It is organized to read a little bit each day, finishing the book of Matthew in 3 months.

TIPS FOR USING THIS BIBLE READING SCHEDULE:

* Make reading the Bible a special time: purposefully set aside 10 quiet minutes, grab a cup of something yummy or a couple cookies, use special pens, etc.

* Get your child a special notebook that they can use to keep track of what they are reading. Encourage them to:

Write down a verse that really stuck out to you

Look up the definitions to words

* To begin with, read the daily reading together. Show them how to find the book of Matthew, the chapter, and the verse. Talk about what you read, ask if they have any questions. After a week or two, have them read on their own and share about what they learned afterwards.

* If you don't read every single day, don't worry about it! That's why the list is undated. The purpose is to teach your children how to read and understand the Bible--not to check off all the boxes.

* After your child finishes one of the sections of Matthew, take them out for a special treat or outing (a donut, a milkshake, a trip to the park). Bring their Bible and notebook with you so you can discuss what they learned about Jesus. Planting the Word of God in their hearts is a good thing to reward!
